

Reunion recital for Transmission vets

Ex BBC Transmission staff (left) enjoyed a recital by international harpist and composer David Watkins when they came together for their second reunion in October.

It was a surprise arranged by Sue Davies, who organised the reunion with Peter Condron.

Watkins, ex professor of the harp at the Guildhall School of Music in London, also gave a commentary on his long career, going back to his student days in Paris, and on the pieces he played.

The event, last held in October 2007, was at the Welcombe Hotel in Stratford upon Avon.

More pictures of the occasion can be found on the internet at www.bbceng.info - a private engineering site hosted by Martin Ellen.
